Virtify® RIM

The Challenge

Tracking and managing product registrations is tedious and time consuming work. Today's regulatory professionals are busy; struggling to meet ever more aggressive and complex submission goals while maintaining detailed and actionable operational regulatory data.

As an added challenge, today's regulatory information management systems have not adapted to increased workloads and changing work models for distributed regulatory groups.

The combination of these two forces has resulted in incomplete or potentially inaccurate product registration data and poor operational intelligence data from which to base product decisions. This strategic deficit causes heavier workloads for regulatory professionals, deepening the problem.

The Solution

Virtify RIM is a new regulatory information management system with a twist: it integrates right into the tools you already use. By leveraging these existing tools, Virtify RIM makes it easy to build and maintain essential regulatory operations data, including product registrations.

The Solution: Virtify RIM

Virtify RIM is a highly innovative regulatory information management platform which simplifies daily tracking and recording tasks by extending into the tools you already use.

Virtify RIM is the platform for comprehensive global regulatory information management. It easily and seamlessly tracks filing plans, correspondence, commitments, submissions and product changes throughout the product lifecycle.

Virtify RIM automatically aggregates submission and product change data to produce detailed product registrations, eliminating the need for manual maintenance of product registration records—tracking key regulatory operations data and producing accurate registrations with less effort.

Virtify RIM provides transparency into regulatory activities—allowing regulatory professionals to quickly access the data they need to make business decisions quickly. Its elegant combination of metrics, dashboards and reports provides operational summaries and performance data right to your smartphone or inbox.

BENEFITS

Easy to Use

Virtify RIM makes routine regulatory activities, including product registration, easy. By leveraging tools already used by regulatory professionals, tracking and product registration is simple and straightforward—eliminating extra steps and increasing satisfaction.

Maintain accurate product registrations

Easy data collection is key to accurate product registrations. Virtify RIM's ease of use and integration into existing business processes and tool makes keeping registrations up to date a snap! Virtify RIM is unique in its approach to tracking regulatory activities and automatically generating product registrations. This eliminates maintenance and improves accuracy.

Easy to access

Virtify RIM provides a state of the art blend of dashboards, metrics and reports for all levels of management. Monitor summary metrics or dive into the details using BI tools, Excel, or reports delivered right to your inbox.

Collaboratively manage regulatory milestones

No longer is the go-to-market strategy locked away. Set and share regulatory strategies quickly and easily. Set, track, and report global regulatory milestones.

XEVMPD Compliance

Virtify RIM enables users to meet XEVMPD and future IDMP requirements efficiently.

Leverage product registrations

You spend valuable time maintaining product registrations; why not use them? Plan submissions and changes globally using knowledge extracted from your product registrations. Planning in Virtify RIM is simpler and faster.

Quick, complete change assessment

Determine the impact of product changes before committing to their implementation. Simple and easy tools provide regulatory personnel with the information they require to make decisions quickly.

Get instant access to changes

Gain instant visibility to regulatory changes or items which may impact your ability to execute on budget or on schedule.

Plan more, react less

Plan your regulatory strategy and let Virtify RIM alert you when things go off schedule. Concise and actionable summaries provide you with just the information you need to make critical product decisions.

Easily respond to change

Change is going to happen. Virtify RIM quickly adapts to changing regulatory requirements or business process optimizations without IT involvement.

Streamline and control your process

Virtify RIM's workflow ensures all the i's are dotted and the t's are crossed as your team performs its day-to-day tasks. This reduces manual processes, keeps everyone in the loop, reduces mistakes and makes everyone more efficient.

Communicate more effectively

Virtify RIM expertly keeps diverse regulatory groups up-to-date with the latest changes in regulatory strategy and execution. Meaningful dashboards, reports and notifications provide regulatory professionals with meaningful, timely and contextual updates without having to leave their desks.

Enforce data standards

Some information is vital to the operation of the business while other data is not. Virtify RIM lets you choose and enforce standards around the data that reflects your goals and process.

Filter distracting information

Virtify RIM includes configurable data filters which allow regional or local regulatory professionals to view only data which is most relevant while providing global perspective to headquarters.

Simple to install, configure, and maintain

Virtify RIM is easy to deploy. With the most configurability available, Virtify RIM can be deployed in days.

Get up and running quickly

Virtify RIM's simplicity and usability make it easy to get up and running. By leveraging tools already in use by regulatory professionals, change management is easy and painless.
